"Bluebells nodding in the breeze, Seem to wake from dreams of bliss, While enamored zephyrs sieze And imprint them with a kiss."

Flower Life. Flower Life.

I think that, next to your sweet eyes, And pleasant books, and starry skies, I love the world of flowers;
Less for their beauty of a day,
Than for the tender things they say.
And for a creed I've held alway,
That they are sentient powers.

It may be matter for a smile—
And I laugh secretly the while
I speak the fancy out—
But that they love and that they woo,
And that they often marry, too,
And do a noisier creatures do,
I've not the faintest doubt.

And so I cannot deem it right
To take them from the glad sunlight,
As I have sometimes dured;
Though not without an a Jous sigh,
Lest this should break some gentle tie,
Some covenant of friendship, I
Had better far have spared.

Miss Satterfield in a Play.

The Unarlottesville Progress of Wed-mesday gives a very pleasing account of the play, "Atchi," presented Saturday afternoon last, on the lawn at "Castalla," near Keswick, Va., for the benefit of the Keswick Hunt Club. The Progress espe-ially compilments a young Richmond girl, flow staying mear Apswick, by saying:

"The charm and beauty of the play hinged on Miss Rose Satterfield's interpretation of "Emily Hargraye." She never looked more charming, and was safest as the leastly young aft. "In love never looked more charming, and was perfect as the lovely young girl "in love for the first time." Quite a large and fashionable audience witnessed the play and were hearty in their praise of it. At the close of the play ices and cake were served, and every one enjoyed the afternoon."

Of others taking part in the programmo, the Progress goes on to say:
"The part of "Lord Adonis Fickleton" was portrayed in a truly professional way by Mr. King, of Philadelphia, "Sir Martin Mayduke" was splendidly enacted by Mr. Joseph Everett; "Lording," as portrayed by Mr. George Houghton, was 'simply great, white Mrs. Thurman was at her best as 'Lady Mayduke."

duke."
"Indeed, the play altogether was a great success. Mr. Murray Bocock opened the entertainment by a witty and appropriate speech. The day was perfect and the setting for the play ideal."

The Keswirk Hint Club will give a german this paining, beginning at $:30 o'clock, which fill be attended by a number of Helphonoder.

WHEN I AM DEAD, MY DEAREST.

By CHRISTIANA GEORGIANA ROSSETTI.

Other selections from Miss Rossettl's poems have already been printed in this series together with her portrait, autograph and biographical sketch.

HEN I am dead, my dearest, Sing no sad songs for me: Plant thou no roses at my head, No shady cypress tree;

Be the green grass above me, With showers and dewdrops wet; And if thou wilt, remember, And if thou wilt, forget.

I shall not see the shadows, I shall not feel the rain: I shall not hear the nightingale Sing on, as if in pain; And, dreaming through the twilight That doth not rise nor set. Haply I may remember, And haply may forget
